

Glaciers & Waterfalls under the Northern Lights

Prices from £695pp

DEPARTURES DAILY OCT-APR

Soak up Southern Iceland's unique cocktail of sights: the falling water curtains that are Skógafoss and Seljalandsfoss, the glacial snowmobiling rink that is Mýrdalsjökull & the foam pounding on Dyrhólæy's black sand beaches. And then by night enjoy food to die for and afterwards soak in a hot tub under the Northern Lights.

WHAT TO SEE

SKÓGAFOSS AND SELJALANDSFOSS. Seljalandsfoss spills straight off the fell side dropping into a shallow pool. Skógafoss similarly drops straight down into a pool in front of you.

THE GOLDEN CIRCLE. An unmissable trio of sights that are a 'must do' for every Iceland visitor. The double fall at Gullfoss makes it unique; the eponymous Geysir area gave the world the name. Last but not least Pingvellir, where the early Vikings gave up rape and pillage in favour of parliamentary democracy.

DYRHÓLÆY. The southernmost tip of Iceland signified with a rock arch that the sea has eroded from the headland. Puffins and eider ducks are prolific here but the cliffs are multicultural with fulmars, guillemots and kittiwakes all vying for space with each other.

HÓTEL RANGÁ

Set in lush meadowland against a backdrop of Mount Hekla, the Ranga which started life as a private fishing lodge has over the years spawned de-luxe rooms, a restaurant with a 'Surf a Turf' signature dish; outdoor hot tubs; suites themed and furnished around the six continents, Royal Suite and Lounge Bar. Notwithstanding such development the hotel has done it all whilst keeping its very personal owner driven style and ambience.
